About b.j. spoke gallery

b. j. spoke gallery is a not-for-profit 501 (c) (3) organization founded with the belief that a partnership between artists and the public is an essential relationship. The gallery provides opportunities for artists to experience responses to their work, and for the public to increase its aesthetic awareness in the deciphering of the artist's intent through dialogue.

The gallery strives to further an understanding of the arts by holding exhibits of members' work, including invitational and solo shows, exchange exhibits with other galleries, two annual national juried art competitions, gallery talks, panel discussions, workshops and demonstrations. In an effort to bring the under-served artist to the attention of the Long Island community, the gallery maintains an outreach program for emerging artists.

In addition, use of the gallery is extended for benefits, lectures, poetry readings, musical evenings and other exhibits by not-for-profit groups, whose mission reflects the objectives of the gallery. The gallery has played host to such groups as the Art League of Long Island, the Long Island Chapter of the AIDS Collective, the Huntington Breast Cancer Action Coalition, the Huntington Arts Council, the Weed and Seed After School Project and most of the Long Island's colleges and universities' art departments.
